Certification in Life Space Crisis Intervention...

...because crisis NEVER makes an appointment

Are you spending much of your time with only a few students... and feel like you are getting nowhere?

Do you work with students who display any of these patterns?

Displaced Anger:

Students act out stress onto unsuspecting helpers, sparking explosive and endless power struggles.

Errors in perception:

Students in stress misbehave based on distorted thought patterns and perceptual errors.

Limited Social Skills:

Students have the right intentions and motivation but lack the social skills to be successful.

Justifying Harmful Behavior:

Students are purposely aggressive and exploitive with little conscience.

Impulsivity and Guilt:

Students burdened with feelings of inadequacy and shame act in self-damaging ways.

Vulnerability to Peers:

Students entangled in destructive peer relationships are vulnerable to manipulation.

How can LSCI help?

The Skills

LSCI teaches professionals the therapeutic talking strategies they need to help children engaged in self-defeating patterns, as well as the awareness and skills to understand and manage their own feelings when intervening with aggressive or escalating behaviors.

The Theory

This powerful training integrates psychodynamic, cognitive, behavioral and pro-social theories into a dynamic and comprehensive strategy rooted in personal insights, behavioral changes and natural consequences.

The Process

LSCI uses a structured, six-step interviewing process to offer adults and kids in stress a roadmap through conflict. LSCI believes that the process of helping involves the ability to listen deeply to the personal stories of children and youth and to recognize that their message is often not in their words, but in their underlying thoughts and feelings.

Who should be certified in LSCI?

This intensive training is perfect for teachers, administrators, social workers, counselors, psychologists, residential care staff, group home workers, and any professionals who have regular encounters with troubled youth.
